5.0 Policy

ConnectAbility Australia is committed to ensuring that each person is encouraged and supported to participate in community and civic life in ways that are important and meaningful to them.

It is the intention of ConnectAbility Australia to provide people with disabilities with the same opportunities, rights and responsibilities enjoyed by other people in the community. This includes the right to access community services, resources and facilities.

To facilitate this commitment, ConnectAbility Australia will develop connections in the community to promote opportunities for participants to have active and meaningful participation in community and civic life.

To ensure this commitment, ConnectAbility Australia will:

- Support and encourage participants to realise their goals dreams and aspirations;
- Implement person centred planning principles and guidelines to ensure control and decision making is afforded to the person and their families/carers.

- Support and encourage participants to identify how they would like to live their life;
- Develop plans which outline ways in which participants can actively and meaningfully participate in community and civic life;
- Maintain and develop community connections;
- Facilitate linkages between the participant and the community;
- Enhance participants current community connections and informal supports;
- Record examples of community participation and inclusion;
- Review service user engagement and participation in community and civic life;

Train staff in the importance of community participation and inclusion. This would include how they can encourage and support participants to actively and meaningfully participate in community and civic life.

6.0 Procedures

ConnectAbility Australia will develop connections and strategies that promote and build community participation and engagement opportunities to create and develop community networks.

6.1 Planning meeting

These meetings support and encourage participants to realise their goals, dreams and aspirations. They focus on acknowledging a participants formal and informal supports as well as their community connections. Planning meetings also investigate opportunities for community participation and inclusion.

6.2 Surveys

Surveys record levels of satisfaction amongst participants, stakeholders and families. They provide indications of the levels of satisfaction participants have with their community participation and highlights areas of need for increased community inclusion. ConnectAbility Australia will obtain feedback around its performance from participants and their families/carers during planning and review functions and through annual Participant, Family and Carer, and Staff surveys.

6.3 Family Forums

These forums provide families with an informal mechanism of providing feedback to the organisation. Topics discussed include participants levels of community participation and inclusion and how to increase or enhance these.

6.4 Informal Conversations and Feedback

These conversations occur on an irregular basis and can be face to face or over the phone. They highlight specific instances of community participation and integration for individuals and often involve looking at changes in supports to accommodate individual preferences.

6.5 Brochures and Website

ConnectAbility Australia's brochures and website provide specific examples of how participants actively and meaningfully participate in community and civic life facilitated by ConnectAbility Australia. They are a mechanism of documenting participant's achievements and sharing these with the wider community.

6.6 Calendar of Events

The calendar highlights specific events throughout the year that are important to ConnectAbility Australia. It includes events that are specifically for ConnectAbility Australia but also events that allow participants to actively participate and be included in their local community.

8.0 Working with Families/Carers

ConnectAbility Australia recognises the great contributions families and carers make to the service and to their local communities in their individual carer roles. ConnectAbility has adopted key principles to guide the way ConnectAbility staff, management and volunteers interact with families and carers of those people provided supports and services by our organisation.

ConnectAbility Australia acknowledges the importance of Aboriginal culture, disability, age, gender, cultural and religious backgrounds and beliefs of all families and carers of service participants.

ConnectAbility adopts the following principles when engaging with families and carers:

- Recognise the contributions that families and carers make and values the support they provide to the individuals they care for;
- Being mindful of the health and well-being of families and carers;
- Listening to the opinions and feedback of families and carers of participants;
- Respect and support the choices made by families and carers, their knowledge and experiences as carers;
- Work with families to identify what support and services families and carers may require and refer them to these resources and services;
- Show respect for the relationships between families, carers and participants of ConnectAbility Australia;
- Demonstrate a recognition that carers are all different, and that families and carers of our participants have needs outside of their caring role;
- All families and carers associated with ConnectAbility Australia have the same rights choices and opportunities as any other person;
- ConnectAbility acknowledges the difficulties faced by families and carers living in rural and isolated areas.

9.0 Breaches of Policy

Staff are expected to follow this policy. Failure to follow ConnectAbility Australia policies and procedures will be treated seriously and may result in disciplinary action. Serious breaches of policy resulting in gross misconduct could result in instant dismissal.

10.0 Consultation

This is a new policy introduced to increase flexibility and innovation in supports and services for ConnectAbility Australia participants, their families and carers. This policy is aligned with Standard 2 of the NSW Disability Service Standards: Participation and Inclusion.

As a response to changes to the disability sector ConnectAbility Australia has been proactive in its consultation mechanisms to develop and implement an effective Service Standards Policy Framework. Consultation has occurred with a number of peak bodies in the disability sector, namely National Disability Services New South Wales (NDS NSW), Ageing Disability and Home Care (ADHC), and National Disability Insurance Agency (NDIA). The National Standards Framework and NSW Standards in Action documents have been researched to determine alignment of this policy and framework.

It also draws on the direct experiential knowledge of staff, and research and consultation within the organisation, including participant's families and carers of ConnectAbility Australia.

11.0 Quality assurance mechanisms

Supports provided by ConnectAbility Australia must be underpinned by a quality framework that ensures consistency and a high level of quality care and support for participants, their families and carers. ConnectAbility Australia acknowledges that it will be required to undertake third party verification of their performance against the NSW Disability Service Standards (NSW DSS), prior to June 30, 2015.

ConnectAbility Australia's adopted Standards Policy framework must be informed by human rights principles, refer to nationally consistent standards, clear accreditation mechanisms, sound compliance and monitoring systems, and information readily available to participants, families and carers to inform them of minimum quality expectations.

12.0 Communication

This policy will be:

- communicated to the key internal and external stakeholders of ConnectAbility;

- communicated to ConnectAbility Australia staff through professional development opportunities;
- accessible through ConnectAbility Australia's internal intranet and website.
